Dear Stan

With all the rocks that have been thrown in your general direction in the recent past, I thought you might get a chuckle out of this article which appeared in this month's Armed Forces Journal.

I was sorry to learn of your decision to retire. As you know some of us were hoping to get you back some day. I assume your decision was based, in part at least, on the ridiculous new rules restricting post active duty employment. The way I understand it, the law as written, prevents you from taking a job teaching at a University that receives government grants for study of fruit fly sex habits!

At any rate continued good luck. If you haven't read the enclosed before I hope it gives you a light moment. And last but not least, any time you want an update on our ASW or AMCM activities your ticket is good with us.

Regards
